Course Description

Introduces contemporary Web technologies and the front-end technologies needed to code particularly in contemporary interactive Web applications. Deepens knowledge in the emergence and evolution of Web technologies and standards.

Enrollment Requirements

Prerequisite(s): AME 230 or CSE 110 OR Visiting University Student

Course Objectives

The goal of this course is to get students started on the front-end development journey. This course will walk students through development and design concepts that are used in web development, media arts, and application development.

Student Learning Outcomes

By the end of this course students will be able to:

- Create a simple website just using HTML
- Style the website using CSS and make it mobile responsive
- Make the site interactive using basic front-end JavaScript
- Learn how to use external libraries

Student Learning Outcomes

Course Access

Your ASU courses can be accessed by both my.asu.edu and canvas.asu.edu; bookmark both in the event that one site is down.

Additional Requirements

This course requires the following technologies

Computer with Webcam, microphone, headset/earbuds, and speaker. Web browsers (Chrome Mozilla Firefox, or Safari)
Reliable broadband internet connection (DSL or cable).

Classroom Technology

This is an online course; we are assuming you are using a computer (laptop or desktop computer) that has processing power to run a text editor and a browser. Students have had some difficulties using chrome books or tablets.

Required Primary and Secondary Materials

We will be using the following tools in class:

Anti-Discrimination Statement

The Herberger Institute of Design and the Arts at Arizona State University upholds, values, and cherishes student and faculty diversity, no matter the circumstance. As members of the ASU community, we are charged with challenging injustices and social inequities of any kind through education. These values are an integral part of our standing as an institution and must be upheld by all members of the ASU community, including but not limited to all Herberger Institute of Design and the Arts staff, faculty and students. The call is clear and present at ASU for every member of our community to do their part in fostering a culture of Inclusive Excellence that contributes meaningfully to lasting equity for all. For students and faculty alike, this culture of Inclusive Excellence creates role models, broadens perspectives, combats negative stereotyping and enables artists, designers and makers of the 21st century to think creatively, critically and, above all, compassionately about our impact on the world at large.

This course and Arizona State University welcomes all students regardless of race/ethnicity, gender identities, gender expressions, sexual orientation, socio-economic status, age, disabilities, religion, regional background, Veteran status, citizenship status, nationality and other diverse identities that we each bring to class. Each of us bear intersectional perspectives that are born out of our backgrounds and identities, and each of us has a contribution to make towards our culture of Inclusive Excellence. As your instructor, I expect that all of my students abide by the following community agreements:

- to bring a willingness to deeply inspect your own assumptions about the world, identifying areas in which you may need to unlearn implicit biases and behaviors

- to help others learn by respectfully voicing your thoughts and reactions, acknowledging that they are partial to and shaped by the way you make sense of the world

- to demonstrate a curious and eager inquiry into how others make sense of the world Diversity of experiences, backgrounds and opinions are essential to cultivating a rich academic environment which in turn strengthens our capacity to be ethical and empathetic creative-thinkers. I aim for students of all backgrounds to be well served by this course and that the diversity students bring to this class be viewed as a resource, strength and benefit. The materials of this course, including readings and assignments, will reflect this commitment to diverse and inclusive knowledge. If a student feels that there has been a discrepancy between my teaching practices and the university's commitment to Inclusive Excellence, you are encouraged to discuss your concerns directly with me. I value your learning experience and welcome all opportunities to enrich the efficacy of this course for all student groups. Here are resources available to all students to report incidents of bias, harassment, and other forms of discrimination inside and outside the classroom:

Unsure of whether the concern you experience or witness falls under the criteria of bias, harassment, and other forms of discrimination? You can fill out the Herberger Institute

Community of Care form at herbergerinstitute.asu.edu/caring describing the situation. One of the members of the Herberger Institute Behavioral Response Team will connect with you.

Anyone who believes that they have been subjected to discrimination, harassment, or retaliation in violation of this policy, or who believes that this policy has been violated, should report the matter immediately to the Office of University Rights and Responsibilities or the Dean of Students office or directly fill out an incident report

Unless a person is restricted by law from doing so, any employee who is informed of or has a reasonable basis to believe that sexual harassment has occurred, shall immediately report all information regarding the occurrence(s) to the Office of University Rights and Responsibilities or the Title IX Coordinator or the Dean of Students office.

More reporting pathways are available to students on the University's Prohibition Against Discrimination, Harassment, and Retaliation policy page.

Assignments

All assignments are to be submitted on Canvas. This course is about how you can code, versus how it's displayed. Students are encouraged to create their own websites on Github or W3 schools, but they are to be submitted via Canvas.

Final Overview: Students will be creating an interactive web application (HTML/CSS/Javascript)

All assignments are due by 11:59PM Arizona Time SUNDAY.

Late Policy: Unless expressly emailed, assignments submitted after the deadline face a deduction of -10% overall assignment grade per late day. (ex: Submitting a day after the deadline would mean that the highest score you can get is a 9/10 etc...). If you are unable to submit an assignment on time, students must email the instructor at least 24 hours before the due date for an extension. Things happen, if in doubt, email and the instructor will work with a student on a case-by-case basis.

Grading, including grade scale

The course is broken down into three main categories:

1. 6 Homework Assignments: 10 pts x 6 (60 points)

- Week 0 has two quizzes that are considered a homework assignment
- Homework assignments are coding based and have two main sections:
 1. Using Figma, think through the approach to the homework assignment. Figma is an industry standard for front-end design and development; this approach is to make a student think of their implementation before diving right into it.
 2. Demonstration of knowledge

2. Weekly Assessments: 4 quizzes x 5pts (20pts)

- These are end of week checkpoints. They are quizzes that can be taken as many times as possible to get 100%, but they are to use to self-diagnose if you have met learning goals for the week. At the end of the day, its goal is to ensure the student understands the topics taught that week.

3. Final Project: 20 pts (5 extra credit points available)

Resubmissions: A student is allowed to submit their homework early, and have it reviewed for a chance for a higher grade. With the instructor's discretion, if a student has completed a weekly assessment and scores lower than a 50% on their homework, they have an opportunity to resubmit for a higher grade. An instructor will inform an eligible student.

Incomplete Policy

The incomplete is not a routine process for successful completion of coursework.

Rather, it is a limited academic exception intended to address situations where a student who has been doing acceptable work experiences exceptional extenuating circumstances beyond the student's control preventing their timely completion of the course. In evaluating requests for incompletes, I not only assess the nature of the extenuating circumstances and whether such circumstances were beyond the student's control, but also whether the student's record of performance in the class demonstrates the likelihood for successful completion of the remaining coursework.

All incomplete contracts must also be approved from the academic unit leads.

Finally, while policy dictates the maximum time for contract completion, I take into account what materials are outstanding and consider the appropriate extension.

Statistically at ASU, the shorter the contract length the more likely students will be able to successfully complete their classroom obligations. You can read more about the incomplete policy at <https://www.asu.edu/aad/manuals/ssm/ssm203-09.html>

Use of AI in Homework and other resources

Coding in general is a collaborative subject. Students are encouraged to use whatever resources that they need to learn or expand upon subjects discussed. Please refer to the official ASU guidelines for AI Use. However, should you use generative AI in this course, I recommend:

- Discussion Board
- W3 Schools: <https://www.w3schools.com/>
- StackOverflow: <https://stackoverflow.com/questions/>
- ChatGPT

- GitHub Co-Pilot

If you are using any of the above resources, please comment it in your code (as example below)

Approaches to Syllabus Statements Concerning Use of Generative Artificial Intelligence (AI)

Arizona State University seeks to balance the promise of generative Artificial Intelligence (AI) tools to improve learning outcomes with the need for academic integrity, rigor and transparency.

Students are engaging with generative AI tools, and classroom uses of generative AI are rapidly evolving. Each class may have unique needs. It is essential that instructors provide transparent information in their syllabi and, when appropriate, assignment instructions about expected student usage of generative AI tools and how this aligns with course goals and values.

With that in mind, sample syllabi statements for three distinct approaches are provided below: (1) generative AI use generally permitted without course restrictions; (2) generative AI use permitted under some circumstances; and (3) no generative AI use permitted.

Use of Generative AI is Generally Permitted Within Guidelines

Artificial Intelligence (AI), including ChatGPT, are being used in workplaces all over the world to save time and improve outcomes by generating text, images, computer code, audio, or other media. Use of AI tools is generally welcome and even encouraged [N.B.: This could say required in some instances] in this class with attribution aligned with disciplinary guidelines. AI tools might be employed to brainstorm, draft, edit, revise, etc. I will provide examples of how to properly cite use. Any submitted course assignment not explicitly identified as having used generative AI will be assumed to be your original work. Using AI tools to generate content without proper attribution will be considered a violation of the ASU Academic Integrity Policy, and students may be sanctioned for confirmed, non-allowable use. If at any point you have questions about what is permitted, contact the instructor to discuss before submitting work.

Class Schedule

Weeks run from Sunday to Sunday. All homework assignments are due on the Sunday to give students a chance to ask questions, showcase their work and generate ideas.

Subject to change

The instructor reserves the right to change portions of this syllabus (assignments, deadlines etc.) by verbal instructions during scheduled class time. The student is responsible for noting changes and acting accordingly. Grading and absence policies are not subject to change.

Policies and Procedures

Attendance Policy

This is an asynchronous online course, which means we will not be meeting at the same time during this course. Each week, there are learning exercises, readings, discussions, and/or assignments due. The instructor will send announcements, the student is responsible for keeping up with course communications, assignments/tests, due dates, and course obligations. To be successful in this course, you will want to regularly log into Canvas for updates and be sure to check your ASU email daily.

If there is an event that prevents the student from completing assignments, and/or engaging with the course, email the instructor as soon as possible.

This course incorporates an early alert reporting system called Academic Status Reports (ASRs) to give you helpful updates throughout the semester. An ASR will let you know if you are progressing well or if there are concerns related to your class performance. Concerns may be related to missing classes, missing assignments, or the quality of your work. ASR notifications will be sent to your ASU email address and are visible on My ASU in the My Classes box. The ASR may provide recommended actions, such as meeting with your instructor, TA, or academic advisor. If you receive an ASR, don't ignore it and keep calm (it might be good news). Read the message, follow the suggested instructions, and don't delay. Information for making an appointment with your academic advisor can be found on My ASU in the Academic Support Team box. Students should use ASRs as a catalyst to make changes, seek assistance, and improve in the course.

Excused absences related to religious observances/practices in accord with ACD 304–04 “Accommodation for Religious Practices.” Students may be excused for the observance of religious holidays. Students should notify the instructor at the beginning of the semester about the need to be absent from class due to religious observances.

Students will be responsible for materials covered during their absence and should consult with the instructor to arrange reasonable accommodation for missed exams or other required assignments.

Excused absences related to university sanctioned activities in accord with ACD 304-02 "Missed Classes Due to University-Sanctioned Activities." Students required to miss classes due to university sanctioned activities will not be counted absent. However, absence from class or examinations due to university-sanctioned activities does not relieve students from responsibility for any part of the course work required during the period of the absence. Students should inform the instructor early in the semester of upcoming scheduled absences and immediately upon learning of unscheduled required class absences. Reasonable accommodation to make up missed exams or other required assignments will be made. Consult the instructor BEFORE the absence to arrange for this accommodation.

Line-of-duty absence and missed assignment policy

A student who is a member of the National Guard, Reserve, or other U.S. Armed Forces branch who misses classes, assignments or examinations due to line-of-duty responsibilities shall have the opportunity to make up the coursework in accordance with SSM 201-18 Accommodating Active Duty Military Personnel. This accommodation also applies to spouses who are the guardian of minor children during line-of-duty activities. This policy does not excuse students from course responsibilities during their absence. Students should first notify the Pat Tillman Veterans Center of their activation and then the instructor to discuss option

Academic Integrity and Student Honor Code

The ASU student honor code affirms the commitment of ASU to uphold the values, principles, and ethics of academic integrity. All students are expected follow the code which states,

“We, the students of Arizona State University, have adopted this code as an affirmation of our commitment to academic integrity and our participation in ethical education. We embrace the duty to uphold ASU’s Honor Code, and in light of that duty, We promise to refrain from academic dishonesty. We pledge to act with integrity and honesty to promote these values among our peers. We agree to always abide by the Sun Devil Way and uphold the values of the New American University.”

Every student is expected to produce his/her original, independent work. Any student whose work indicates a violation of the ASU Academic Integrity Policy including cheating, plagiarism, and dishonesty will be subject to disciplinary action. Plagiarism is defined as deliberately passing off someone else’s words or ideas as your own. All necessary and appropriate sanctions will be issued to all parties involved with plagiarizing any and all course work. Plagiarism and any other form of academic dishonesty that is in violation with the Student Code of Conduct will not be tolerated.

Arizona State University and the Herberger Institute for Design and the Arts expect the highest standards of academic integrity from all students. Failure to meet these standards may result in suspension or expulsion from the university or other sanctions as specified in the ASU Student Academic Integrity Policy (<http://provost.asu.edu/academicintegrity>), “[e]ach student must act with honesty and integrity, and must respect the rights of others in carrying out all academic assignments.” This policy also defines academic dishonesty and sets a process for faculty members and colleges to sanction dishonesty. Violations of this policy fall into five broad areas that include but are not limited to:

- Cheating on an academic evaluation or assignments
- Plagiarizing
- Academic deceit, such as fabricating data or information
- Aiding Academic Integrity Policy violations and inappropriately collaborating
- Falsifying academic records
- Taking online templates and passing code off as your own

I sanction any incidents of academic dishonesty in my courses using University and HIDA guidelines

. Should you have any question about whether or not something falls subject to this clause, feel free to contact me or review the university policy on academic integrity at the above link. Per ASU policy, a student may not avoid the consequences of academic dishonesty by withdrawing from a course, and may be placed back in the course in order to face sanctions resulting from academic integrity violations. You are responsible for abiding by this policy.

Student Learning Community Conduct

ASU adheres to a university-wide Student Code of Conduct. The philosophy behind this policy states, The aim of education is the intellectual, personal, social, and ethical development of the individual.

The educational process is ideally conducted in an environment that encourages reasoned discourse, intellectual honesty, openness to constructive change and respect for the rights of all individuals.

Self-discipline and a respect for the rights of others in the university community are necessary for the fulfillment of such goals. The Student Code of Conduct is designed to promote this environment at each of the state universities. You are expected to treat your instructor and your fellow classmates with respect and kindness. In all correspondence and in Discussion Board postings, you should show respect for the viewpoints of others who may disagree with you or see things from a different perspective. Criticizing, ridiculing, insulting, or belittling others will not be accepted. Keep in mind that electronic communications do not have the advantage of nonverbal cues that are so much a part of interpersonal communication. Humor or satire can sometimes be misinterpreted in strictly electronic communication forums. In addition, all students should be aware of their Rights and Responsibilities at Arizona State University.

Copyright

Students must refrain from uploading to any course shell, discussion board, or website used by the course instructor or other course forum, material that is not the student's original work, unless the students first comply with all applicable copyright laws; faculty members reserve the right to delete materials on the grounds of suspected copyright infringement. The course content, including lectures and other handouts, is copyrighted material. Students may not share outside the class, upload, sell, or distribute course content or notes taken during the conduct of the course (see ACD 304–06 “Commercial Note Taking Services” for more information). THIS CONTENT IS PROTECTED AND MAY NOT BE SHARED, UPLOADED, SOLD, OR DISTRIBUTED.

Statement on ASU’s Community of Care standards

The Herberger Institute for Design and the Arts complies with the spirit and the letter of ASU’s community of care standards with regard to social distancing, masking, and student, faculty, and staff safety and well being.
<https://eoss.asu.edu/communityofcare>

Threatening or disruptive behavior

Self-discipline and a respect for the rights of others in the classroom or studio and university community are necessary for a conducive learning and teaching environment. Threatening or violent behavior will result in the administrative withdrawal of the student from the class. Disruptive behavior may result in the removal of the student from the class. Threatening, violent, or disruptive behavior will not be tolerated in this class, and will be handled in accordance with ASU policy (SSM 104-02). For more information please visit:
<https://eoss.asu.edu/dos/srr/PoliciesAndProcedures> and
<https://eoss.asu.edu/dos/safety/ThreateningBehavior>

Withdrawal

If you are unable to complete the course, it is your responsibility to arrange for withdrawal from the class. You will not be automatically withdrawn and unless you are officially withdrawn from the course you will receive a final grade based upon the total points you have earned for the semester. Students are required to pay all tuition and fees for any registered course unless enrollment is officially cancelled during the 100% refund period. Please visit the Academic Calendar to review the withdrawal deadlines for this semester. For more information on Drop/Add and Withdrawal visit <https://students.asu.edu/drop-add>

Special Accommodations

Your instructor will make any reasonable adaptations for limitations due to any disability documented with the Student Accessibility and Inclusive Learning Services (SAILS), including learning disabilities. Please contact the instructor during office hours or by appointment to discuss any special needs you may have. You must contact the SAILS to process the paperwork for special course accommodations. To request academic accommodations due to a disability, please contact the SAILS (<https://eoss.asu.edu/drc>); Phone (480) 965-1234; TDD (480) 965-9000). Students who feel they will need disability accommodations in this class but have not registered SAILS should contact SAILS immediately. Students should contact the Center on the campus that your class is being held.

Campus-specific location and contact information can be found on the SAILS website. SAILS offices are open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday – Friday. Check the above website for eligibility and documentation policies (<https://eoss.asu.edu/drc>). This is a very important step as accommodations may be difficult to make retroactively. If you have a letter from their office indicating that you have a disability which requires academic accommodations, in order to assure that you receive your accommodations in a timely manner, please present this documentation to me as soon as possible so that your needs can be addressed effectively.

Title IX and Mandated Reporter Policy

Title IX is a federal law that provides that no person be excluded on the basis of sex from participation in, be denied benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity.

Both Title IX and university policy make clear that sexual violence and harassment based on sex is prohibited. An individual who believes they have been subjected to sexual violence or harassed on the basis of sex can seek support, including counseling and academic support, from the university. If you or someone you know has been harassed on the basis of sex or sexually assaulted, you can find information and resources at <https://sexualviolenceprevention.asu.edu/faqs>

As a mandated reporter, I am obligated to report any information I become aware of regarding alleged acts of sexual discrimination, including sexual violence and dating violence. ASU Counseling Services, <https://eoss.asu.edu/counseling>, is available if you wish to discuss any concerns confidentially and privately.

Policy on Sexual Discrimination

Policy on sexual discrimination as described in ACD 40, "Prohibition Against Discrimination, Harassment, and Retaliation", including the fact that the instructor is a mandated reporter and therefore obligated to report any information regarding alleged acts of sexual discrimination. Arizona State University is committed to providing an environment free of discrimination, harassment, or retaliation for the entire university community, including all students, faculty members, staff employees, and guests. ASU expressly prohibits discrimination harassment and retaliation by employees, students, contractors, or agents of the university based on any protected status: race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, and genetic information.
